The 42nd Annual Phoenix Metro Football Magazine relied heavily on our Coaches Questionnaire to obtain information for use in this publication. If your favorite high school isn't listed in this index, we didn't receive a response from your coach or athletic director. Therefore, we couldn't include a profile of your team. Just get those questionnaires in on time and we'll do our part to properly preview your upcoming season.

New Coach Todd Graham

Seeking to Bring Sun Devils Back from Dark Days!

By David Kukulski

Well, the Dennis Erickson era is complete. Five years with records of 10-3, 5-7, 4-8, 6-6 and 6-7 ... that's a 31-31 record. The 2011 campaign ended with five consecutive losses after the Sun Devils won six of their first eight contests, including big-time victories over USC and Missouri. But everything fell apart down the stretch, especially on the defensive side of the football.

So there's a brand new staff headed by Todd Graham, who in 2011 was the head man for the University of Pittsburgh.

What kind of team will the Devils field in 2012? Who knows.

There will be more discipline – probably a lot less penalties, if early indications mean anything. ASU will play fast on offense, getting to the line of scrimmage for 80+ snaps a game. At least that's the gameplan.

Another thing you might watch for is a surprisingly stout defense. After last year, that's hard to imagine when the Devils couldn't stop anyone late in the year. But senior linebacker Brandon Magee (5-11, 233) returns from injury to lead a group that could make ASU fans proud.

Watch for the defense to be more aggressive, lining up in multiple fronts, including a 4-3, 3-4 and 3-3-5. It appears the defensive line will feature junior Will Sutton (6-2, 271), senior Corey Adams (6-3, 273), junior Davon Coleman (6-3, 269), senior Toa Tuitea (6-3, 270), as well as newcomers Mike Pennel (6-5, 340) and Jaxon Hood (6-1, 290).

Sun Devil defensive lineman Will Sutton (90) pursues USC quarterback Matt Barkley (7) in Arizona State's 43-22 win over the Trojans on September 24, 2011. (Paynter's Pics).

Sutton should be a headliner this year, while Adams could be outstanding if he can overcome the injury bug. Coleman has really dedicated himself to becoming a better player and looks for a big year at one of the defensive end spots. Tuitea can play either tackle or end.

Pennel should be particularly valuable as a run stopper in the 3-4 alignment. He's a transfer from Scottsdale Community College. Hood can play a number of positions up front; he prepped at Hamilton High School in Chandler.

The linebacking corps will feature Magee, who redshirted last year and is back to close out his collegiate career in grand style. He very well could be the Devils' leading tackler this fall.

Sophomore Carl Bradford (6-0, 237) shows great promise and will likely occupy the Devil Backer position, which is really part defensive end and part linebacker, depending on the alignment.

Junior Anthony Jones (6-2, 212) figures to start at the Spur Linebacker slot, which is a cross between an outside backer and a safety. He'll have to hold off the challenge of highly-regarded junior college transfer Chris Young (6-2, 220) to be a full-time starter there.

Others to watch are Junior Onyeali (5-11, 230), Kepeli Koniseti (6-3, 244) and Steffon Martin (6-2, 230) – all juniors. Onyeali returns from a suspension and could see time on the defensive line or at the Devil Backer slot. Martin should definitely compete for playing time after transferring from Arizona Western JC (like Young).

Big things are expected from redshirt

For years the buzz has been that Keelan Johnson (10) has the ability to be a standout safety. The former Mesa High School star is back to make that happen in 2012 (Paynter's Pics).

freshman Izzy Marshall (6-2, 208), as well as incoming freshmen Carlos Mendoza (6-1, 220), Salamo Fiso (6-1, 220) and Matthew Rowe (6-2, 220).

The secondary shows junior Osahon Irabor (5-11, 176) and senior Deveron Carr (5-11, 193) at the corners, with senior Keelan Johnson (6-0, 202) and junior Alden Darby (5-10, 187) at the safety positions. That should be a solid group, headed by Irabor, who has all-conference potential.

Junior Robert Nelson (5-10, 170) is an excellent corner, but depth could be a problem. Redshirt frosh Ezekiel Bishop (5-10, 202) returns from injury and can definitely help at safety, while incoming freshman Laui Moeakiola (6-1, 205) should play himself off the red-shirt list.

The offense from a year ago took some major hits, none bigger than when Brock Osweiler opted to enter the NFL draft after his junior year – a record-setting year in which he threw for over 4,000 yards. He's now on the Denver Broncos roster, along with record-setting wide receiver Gerell Robinson.

So ASU has some rebuilding to do while installing a new offense that features the running game a lot more than the Erickson-led Sun Devils.

The starter at quarterback will be either sophomore Taylor Kelly (6-1, 202), redshirt freshman Michael Eubank (6-5, 243) or sophomore Mike Bercovici (6-1, 202). It looks as though Kelly could get the call early in the season, but nearly everyone expects Eubank could be the answer before the year is over.

The Sun Devils are blessed with a bevy of running backs, headed by senior Cameron Marshall (5-11, 223). He rushed for 1,050 yards and tallied 18 TDs last year. Expect more of the same this fall.

Behind Marshall, the battle for playing time will be fierce. Senior James Morrison (5-11, 213) can get the tough yardage, while JC transfer Marion Grice

(6-0, 210) and HS All-American D.J. Foster (6-0, 190) are definitely homerun hitters. Redshirt sophomore Deantre Lewis (5-10, 193) continues to recover from his injuries and all Sun Devil fans hope he can regain his form of 2010 when he was one of the best young backs in the conference.

Junior Kyle Middlebrooks (5-8, 182) is also battling some injuries, but he has tremendous speed and could be a factor at running back or wide receiver.

At wide receiver, a definite transition is taking place. Gone are Robinson, Mike Willie, Aaron Pflugrad and George Bell. Senior Jamal Miles (5-10, 180) is being asked to become a full-time receiver and help in the vertical passing game.

Speedy senior Rashad Ross (6-0, 174), a track star at ASU, must step up. Unproven performers like J.J. Holliday (6-0, 170), Kevin Ozier (6-0, 198) and A.J. Pickens (5-10, 171) have waited for years for a chance to play. That time has come.

Newcomers like JC transfer Alonzo Agwuenu (6-4, 210) and frosh Richard Smith (5-8, 161) will get a look.

One thing is clear; Graham needs several from this group to establish themselves in 2012 or the ASU passing game will not be competitive with the rest of the conference.

The tight end is back for the Devils. That hasn't been the case for the past couple of years, when the ASU offensive scheme basically eliminated the position in favor of additional wide-outs.

It's not a stretch at all to say that junior Chris Coyle (6-3, 230) might be the leading receiver this year. He's a fine receiver and could be great in the short passing game, while the young quarterback(s) become more comfortable in Pac-12 competition.

Another Arizona Western alum – junior Darwin Rogers (6-4, 240) – will push Coyle, while junior Max Smith (6-2, 251) and sophomore running back convert Marcus Washington (5-11, 212) will look for an opportunity to play.

Arizona State will also use an H-Back on a regular basis, so a number of players with different skill sets will be tested there.

The offensive line lost Garth Gearhart, Dan Knapp, Mike Marcisz and Aderious Simmons from a year ago, but a number of youngsters

Cameron Marshall (6), with a good senior year, will be remembered as one of the best running backs ever at ASU. He has scampered for 2,131 yards and 29 TDs on the ground through his first three seasons in Tempe (Paynter's Pics).

appear to be ready to play. The returning starters are junior Evan Finkenberg (6-6, 299) and senior Andrew Sampson (6-3, 304), while junior Kody Koevensky (6-4, 294), sophomore Jamil Douglas (6-4, 284) and senior Brice Schwab (6-7, 305) appear to be set in the starting lineup.

Schwab has lost about 50 pounds since he arrived on the ASU campus two years ago as a highly-regarded JC transfer. After some difficult days adjusting to Pac-12 football and a red-shirt year in 2011, Schwab is the starter at right tackle heading into the 2012 campaign.

A talented group of youngsters, headed by sophomore Tyler Sulka (6-4, 273), redshirt freshman Mo Latu (6-3, 336), sophomore Sil Ajawara (6-3, 290), redshirt freshman Vi Teofilo (6-3, 306) and true freshman Evan Goodman (6-4, 290), have much to prove, but hopefully they'll be given time to grow into bigger roles.

Senior Josh Hubner (6-4, 231) is a great punter and should be an outstanding weapon for the Devils this year. Sophomore placekicker Alex Garoutte (6-1, 192) also returns and will need to be more consistent this season; he missed some big kicks a year ago. The longsnapper is true freshman Easton Wahlstrom (6-2, 240) and that might be a bit of a concern.
